CONSUMPTION.

The early symptoms of this disease are a sense of weariness upon little exertion, and disposition to remain passive and idle; a peculiar sensitiveness of the effects of cold, and a shortness of breath upon moving quickly or ascending a hill or stairs, a slight hacking cough with or without expectoration, flying pains throughout the chest or back or under the shoulder-blades; the symptoms are worse towards or during the night; slight fever in the afternoon, cold feet and hands, and in many cases blue lividity of the lips and roots of the finger nails. The more advanced symptoms are wasting of flesh, diarrhœa, chills and fever, night sweats, expectoration of yellow pus from the ulcers or cavities in the lungs, with or without a depression of the chest, increasing weakness, and at last a closing up of the air passages of the lungs, causing strangulation or suffocation of the patient for want of power to expectorate the mucus from the lungs. Heretofore the treatment of consumption has been very unsatisfactory, both to physicians and their patients, but luckily, since the discovery of the Aerean system of practice, a few years ago, thousands of cases have been completely cured, where, had it not been for this system of practice, utter failure to combat the evils of the disease would have continued up to the present time. The system of Medicated Inhalation is the only means by which these diseases can be cured. By this means we are enabled to dissolve the hardened mucus in the lungs, ease the cough, facilitate expectoration, contract and heal ulcers and cavities after all hope of cure by ordinary methods is passed. CONSULTATION FREE. Those who desire to consult with me in regard to their cases had better call personally for an examination, but if impossible to do so, may write for a list of Questions and Medical Treatise. Address M. HILTON WILLIAMS, M. D., 275 North Main street, Los Angeles, Cal. Office hours from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m.; Sundays from 3 to 4 p. m. Professional visits before and after office hours. no19 d&w

A Branch Insane Asylum.

The proposed legislative appropriation for the erection of a third insane asylum in the State will be apt to become a law, because the necessity for such an institution is conceded, the present asylums at Napa and Stockton being overcrowded. The third asylum ought to be located in Southern California. There are numerous good and sufficient reasons why we should have it. The long distances intervening between Los Angeles and the present asylums constitute a serious objection to the removal hence of insane persons. Many patients, whose cases are not primarily bad, have their malady greatly aggravated by the long and tiresome journey of five or six hundred miles to reach either of the existing asylums, frequently, no doubt, being rendered incurable by the fatigue and excitement of the trip, when, were they comitted to an institution nearer home, they might be speedily cured. We are informed that there are at this time enough patients from Southern California in the Stockton and Napa asylums, with their twenty-five hundred or three thousand inmates, to well-nigh fill a third institution. Within the last two years there have been sent up from Los Angeles county alone one hundred and two unfortunates, the cost of whose transportation amounted to the large sum of $12.000—enough to go a considerable distance towards the erection of an asylum in our own part of the State.

A determined effort will of course be made to capture the new institution for the Bay district; in fact, log-rolling has already begun with that end in view. It is characteristic of those people up there, and if Southern California wants anything in the insane-asylum line she will have to be up and reaching for it.

At last night's joint meeting of the Los Angeles County Medical Association and the Board of Trade, called to forward the move to secure the location of the proposed third house in Southern California, some cogent reasons therefor were advanced. The general sentiment expressed was in favor of Los Angeles as the site, though some of the speakers thought a location a little ways off might be better. It is proposed to send an emissary or emissaries up to Sacramento to labor with with the "gathered wisdom of the Commonwealth"—to-wit, the Legislature—to accomplish the end sought. It is a crazy scheme—though a good one, nevertheless.

Blurting Out a Truth.

From the Macon Telegraph (Dem.)]

It is safe to estimate that the New England farmer does more real work before breakfast than his Georgia rival will do in an entire day.

THE WEATHER.

A Heavy Rainstorm Prevailing Throughout the State.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The Signal Service reports rainfall to-day for the last twenty-four hours, ending 8 p. m., .52 of an inch. Barometer falling. Wind south.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Rainstorm set in here at 5 o'clock this evening. Still raining steadily with good prospects of an all-night storm.

NEVADA, Cal, Jan. 9.—About dark tonight rain commenced falling. It is warm. Barometer low.

SALINAS, Jan. 9.—Commenced raining here at 3 p. m., and has continued ever since.

VALLEJO, Jan. 9.—Rain has been falling heavily most of the afternoon, and the worst of the storm seems yet to come.

NAPA, Jan. 9.—Rain falling here at 4 o'clock this afternoon and still continues. At 8 o'clock prospects are we will have a heavy storm.

CALUSA, Jan. 9.—It began raining about 4 p. m. to-day. Prospect is good for an all-night rain.

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 9—It is raining lightly, with indication of continuing all night.

A Brutal Sea Captain.

PORTLAND, Jan. 9.—Charges have been preferred against Captain C. G. Paynton, master of the British bark Embilpon, which arrived from Acapulco with a fever-stricken crew, five of whom died off Columbia river bar. Complaint is made by H. Gibson, a sailor, in behalf of one Antoine, another sailor aboard the vessel December 28th. Gibson deposes that on the 27th Antoine was sick of fever and the Captain dragged him from his bunk, beat him with a rope's end and made him take a trick at the wheel. The next day the captain repeated the treatment, and Antoine dropped at the wheel and died before he could be carried to the forecastle. Captain Paynton was arrested on a warrant issued by the United States Commissioner of Astoria, waived an examination and gave bonds in $1000. The United States District Attorney is of opinion that as the alleged crime was committed aboard an English ship the Federal courts have no jurisdiction in the matter.

Boston Democrats and Gen. Grant.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—The Herald's Boston special says the Democratic anniversary dinner to celebrate the Battle of New Orleans was the largest political banquet ever held in Boston. Edgar K. Apgar made a long special plea for General Grant, which his Democratic hearers applauded in a very liberal manner. He hoped the Democratic party of Massachusetts represented here would instruct their Chairman, Congressman Collins, one of the leaders of the Democratic party in the House, to initiate some adequate national measure in reference to Grant's case. This great nation should honor itself by saying that the misfortunes of such a man shall not be lightly allowed to pass by from neglect of his countrymen.

A Canadian Warning to England.

QUEBEC, Jan. 9.—Le Courier Du Canada newspaper, discussing a recent article of the London Times on the Nicaraguan canal difficulty and the possibility of a rupture between England and the United States, adds: "There is no doubt Canada would become the theater of operations, and in our case we would have the right to protest and refuse to allow ourselves to be slaughtered like sheep; and we are asked to endure all the calamities and all the horrors of war to defend England's interests in Central America. This is really coming it too strong, and we hardly think that our loyalty will permit us to enter upon so perilous a path."

Relief of General Grant.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—A Times Washington special says: "General Grant's second refusal to accept anything that savors of charity has done much to popularize the Senate bill for his retirement. The matter, however, it is thought, will be postponed until the advent of another Congress and another administration, when the twin measures for the retirement of Grant and Porter will be proposed, with good prospects for both passing.

Vessel Ashore.

PORTLAND, Ogn., Jan. 9.—The vessel ashore at Shoalwater Bay proves to be the British bark Abbey Cowper, from Moltend, in ballast, to Portland. She went on the rocks in a dense fog Sunday night, the 4th inst. The crew took to the boats. All hands, eighteen in number, were saved.

Eleven Persons Poisoned.

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio, Jan. 9.—Eleven persons were maliciously poisoned at Vanport, Pennsylvania, to-day. One of the victims is dead and the recovery of the others is doubtful. Particulars not received.

Memorializing Congress.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 9.—The Pennsylvania Club has forwarded a memorial to Congress, asking the immediate passage of the Blair Educational bill.

Four Skaters Drowned.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Jan. 9.—As a number of boys were skating on a pond this afternoon the ice gave way and four of them, ranging in age from 12 to 15 years, were drowned. The bodies were recovered.

A BLOODY AFFRAY.

A Prominent Irish Nationalist Cut to Pieces.

O'DONOVAN ROSSA'S OFFICE THE SCENE.

Captain Phelan, of Kansas City, the Man—He is Cut in Twelve Places—He Shoots His Assailant.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—At a late hour this afternoon several men rushed out of 12 Chambers street, in which building is located the office of O'Donnovan Rossa and the United Irishman. In a few seconds a man covered with blood tottered down the stairs to the hallway and sank on the front stoop, while his blood covered the sidewalk in a stream. The most intense excitement at once ensued and crowds flocked to the scene. Several officers rushed up and seeing a few men making toward Chambers street and City Hall, followed them. One of them, a tall man, was captured and brought back to where the dying man was lying. "Is this the man who stabbed you?" asked the officer. "Yes; that is the man," said the bleeding man, "but by heavens, if I'm going to die, I'll die game, and there will be two of us." With that, and before the bystanders could realize his intentions, he drew a revolver and fired two shots in quick succession at the man standing before him. One of the balls took effect in the thigh of his would-be murderer. This still further increased the excitement, and the neighborhood became wild with all sorts of rumors. The man who was stabbed proved to be Captain Thomas F. Phelan, of Kansas City, aged 49 years, and his assailant, whom he says stabbed him, gave his name as Richard Short, of Tenth avenue. An ambulance was summoned, and Phelan was taken to the Chambers-street Hospital, dying. He is stabbed in the neck and breast, and several other places. There were rumors that he gave away some of the secrets of the Fenian organization.

The police claim to have a letter from Rossa to the wounded man, telling him to come on to New York to his office; that he had important business for him to attend to. Phelan was asked by fireman Cottrell if he wanted a minister or priest. "No," replied he, "I don't want anybody. I am a follower of Bob Ingersoll." News of the stabbing and shooting spread rapidly, and inquiries were made on all sides as to who Phelan and Short were. Phelan appeared to be known to many men as identified with several Irish revolutionary societies. Rossa was condemned by a number of his compatriots for giving publication in his paper this week to an interview published in the Kansas City Journal, purported to have been had with Phelan, giving a detailed account of the operations of the dynamiters in England. Threats were made against Rossa's life. It is said his immediate friends had determined to form a bodyguard to protect him. Short, it was stated, came to this country with the man who in the summer of 1882 shot at Jim McDermott in Capt. Ryan's barrom in Chambers street. He is said to be a native of Cork, where he was one of the principal leaders in the movement directed by O'Donnovan Rossa. A long interview in the Kansas City Journal was published by Phelan lately. Phelan was one of the originators of the skirmishing fund, and was at one time suspected of being the famous "Number One" mentioned by informer Carey in his evidence. He has been an Irish nationalist all his life, and has been always prominent in Irish revolutionary movements. Short is said to be one of the Irishmen who was driven to this country by the treachery of Jim McDermott of Brooklyn, who is now believed to be in the pay of the British government.

Phelan's clothing was cut in several places, under which there was no wound. Four stabs in the back were slight. Two just below either shoulder were two inches deep. The seventh was in the right side of the neck. Another penetrated the chest, and each arm received a thrust. The right arm was almost severed at the shoulder. The surgeon said his assailant must have been a very powerful man. The patient showed great fortitude during the dressing of his wounds. Coroner Martin came to the hospital to take the wounded man's antemortem statement. Phelan said he would give a true story and proceeded:

PHELAN'S STORY.

"On last Sunday week an interview between myself and the editor of the Kansas City Journal was published in the Journal. The paper is now in my pocket. I afterward received a letter from John T. Kearney, asking me to come to this city. I telegraphed him I would be here January 8th. When I arrived to-day I called on Kearney, and together we went to O'Donovan Rossa's office. Rossa was not in. A man named Rocky Mountain O'Brien came in while we were there. He shook hands with me in a friendly way, and asked how I was. He then left. A man, whose name, I think, is Barker, came in with a knife in his hand. He immediately approached and struck at me about the chest. I was seated in a chair at the time, and warded off the blows. He made more thrusts, and stabbed me several times. I sprang to my feet and ran down stairs. Barker followed me, and cut me again and again. On the street Barker was brought before me. I recognized him as the man who stabbed me, and supposing he would stab me again, I shot him. Kearney and two others I did not know were present when I was assaulted."

The identity of the two men spoken of could not be established. They, with Kearney, fled when the butchery began. O'Donovan Rossa's offices are on the third floor of the building, which is an old structure and occupied by people of various occupations. Rossa has two rooms. The assault occurred in the larger room. In this an overturned chair and spilled bottle of ink were signs of the struggle. There were also numerous spots of blood on the walls and floor. Along the walls of the stairway more blood blotches were seen. The police found the knife with which the crime was committed on the top step of the second flight. Its blade was five inches long, and sharpened on both edges. The handle was twisted with twine to give it a firmer grasp. Police Captain Webb and his officers are after further facts. Three letters were found in Phelan's pockets. They will not allow them to be seen. O'Donovan Rossa came to his office after nightfall and pretended ignorance of the whole affair. When told a man had been hacked to pieces in his office he smiled incredulously. Afterwards he showed consternation, and asked for all particulars. He was told to go to the station-house for information, and he suddenly locked his door and disappeared. Rossa lives in the outskirts of Brooklyn. A ring at his door-bell to-night brought no response. A friend of his said he had lately heard talk of "treachery" among certain parties, but he was surprised that men should so far forget themselves as to fight. He was sure Rossa knew nothing about the affair, and that if Rossa had been present the stabbing would have been prevented. At a late hour to-night Phelan's condition had not improved, and it is believed he will die.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—At 1 o'clock this morning the surgeons at the hospital said they entertained hopes of Phelan's recovery. They discovered three additional wounds in the patient's head, making twelve in all.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 9.—The news of the stabbing of Capt. Thos. Phelan in New York created quite a stir of excitement in this city. His absence was not generally known, and only a few friends were aware of his visit to New York. Phelan took exceptions to comments in O'Donovan Rossa's paper upon the interview published here, and left for New York City Thursday night with the intention, it is stated, of asking an explanation or retraction of them. He represented to his wife he was going to St. Louis, and she was not aware of his mission to New York until informed this evening of the encounter there. She will leave for New York City to-morrow morning to attend her husband. Captain Phelan has been a resident here since 1864. He served in the Federal army during the war and has figured conspicuously in local politics. He has always been an ardent supporter of the Irish cause and a man of violent temper. He has been superintendent of the workhouse for nearly a year.

Mormon Democratic Meeting.

SALT LAKE, Jan. 9.—A large and enthusiastic meeting was held last night by the Democratic club, composed of young men of prominent Mormon families. Alfales Young, a son of the late President Brigham Young, was a prominent speaker and said here was a complete union of church and State. A Mormon cried out: "A lie." Young responded: "I guess it is the church has absorbed the State." A number of others spoke in the same vein. The meeting was the whole talk of the town to-day.

Suing a Mining Company.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Minnie Bennett has filed suit against E. P. Yates, George H. True, A. Jackson, J. McGlenen, and A. Dubosse, to recover $1000 from each defendant, as Directors of the Arnold Gold and Silver Mining Company, located in Cedar Valley mining district, Mojave county, A. T., for failing to publicly post an itemized balance-sheet, etc., on the first of last December. She also brings a similar suit for like damages for failure to post for October, and a similar suit for September.

CAPITAL GLEANINGS.

The Historic Statement Concerning the Confederacy.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The papers called for by Senator Hawley, in the resolution offered by him in the Senate yesterday requesting the President to communicate to the Senate the historic statement concerning the public policy of the executive department of the Confederate States during the late war, which has recently been filed in the War Department by General W. T. Sherman, will probably be sent to the Senate to-morrow. They consist of an autograph letter from the late Alexander H. Stephens of Georgia to Herschel V. Johnson, which was recently published, and a secret message from Jefferson Davis to the Confederate Congress, which was captured in Richmond, together with a communication from General Sherman in reference to the documents.

WHEN CLEVELAND WILL GO TO WASHINGTON.

Colonel Lamont, Mr. Cleveland's private secretary, said this morning: "Mr. Cleveland has not yet fixed the day when he will come to Washington, but I am pretty sure he will not arrive until within a very few days of the inauguration. I know he felt as if a great load had been lifted off his shoulders when his resignation as Governor took effect, for you know the last week of his administration was an unusually onerous one. He now has time to attend to the future."

GENERAL SHERMAN ON GENERAL GRANT.

General Sherman, in answer to a question as to the effect of General Grant's declination to receive the fund being raised for his benefit, said: "Of course, that will put a stop to the whole thing, and nothing will now be done about it. I presume, though, that the legal defense which was secured for him will be retained. General Grant has a friend who will look out for his interests, outside of those who were interesting themselves in his behalf in this particular instance."

ANTHRACITE AND BITUMINOUS COAL.

The Board appointed to investigate the comparative merits of anthracite and bituminous coal for ordinary uses reports that it considers anthracite better adapted for the purposes named than bituminous. The Board is, however, of the opinion that semi-bituminous coal is better than either, especially if a practically smokeless variety can be obtained.

NOMINATIONS.

Postmaster, Theodore Ruth, Pomona, California.

CONFIRMATIONS.

John M. Morton, Surveyor of Customs, San Francisco; W. S. Schley, Chief of the Bureau of Equipment and Recruiting Navy.

A COSTLY SPREE.

Wm. N. Smith, who left Savannah on a spree with government money in his possession, tendered his resignation, which the President accepted.

CHINESE IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Decision in Favor of Children Born in the United States.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—Superior Judge Maguire decided to-day that in the case of Mamie Tape, a Chinese girl, ten years of age, against Miss Jennie M. A. Hurley, principal of a public school of this city, that Chinese children born in this country are entitled to admission into public schools. The opinion is based on the Fourteenth Amendment, which secures equal privileges to all persons born within the United States, subject to their jurisdiction, and the State law, which provides that all children shall have eqaal facilities for education by means of public schools. When the reading of the decision was concluded it was stated to the Court that under the present rules of the Board of Education if Miss Hurley should admit the Chinese girl to her school she would be summarily dismissed from her position. Judge Maguire responded that in that event the members of the Board of Education would be summarily punished for contempt. Counsel for the Chinese girl said he would not press the matter to any unpleasantness. A decision was all he desired at present. Opportunity would be given for carrying the question to the Supreme Court and afso giving the Board of Education an opportunity to amend its present rules and regulations before presenting the Chinese girl again to Miss Hurley for admission to her school. The decision creates much surprise and excitement.

FORTY-EIGHTH CONGRESS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.

The bill was passed directing the transfer of one vessel of the Greely relief expedition to the Treasury Department for a revenue cutter for use in the waters of Alaska, and authorizing the retention of the other two for use in the Navy as surveying vessels or otherwise. In submitting the report Mr. Cameron said the revenue cutter now in Alaska was insufficient for the purposes of the Government.

Mr. McPherson inquired whether there was any intention on the part of the Government to return to the English Government the ship presented to the United States for the purposes of the Greely relief expedition.

Mr. Cameron replied that under the law, as it would stand without the passage of this bill, the Navy would be required to sell all ships forming part of the relief expedition.

Mr. Dolph reported favorably from the Committee on Public Lands the bill to amend the revised statutes relating to the entry of coal lands by reducing the price of such lands from $10 to $5 per acre, where the lands are more than fifteen miles from any completed railroad, and from $20 to $10 where the lands are within fifteen miles of a completed railroad. In submitting his report, Mr. Dolph said all other mineral lands are sold at five dollars per acre, and there is no good reason for the difference in price which now exists between coal lands and other mineral land. He also said should the bill be passed the sale of coal lands would be largely increased and the opening and development of coal mines be greatly stimulated and the receipts of the Government from the sale of this class of lands considerably augmented.

The Senate resumed consideration of the interstate commerce bill.

Mr. Garland called up the House bill on the same subject, with the view, he said, of moving to recommit the Senate bill, with all its proposed amendments, together with the House bill, to the Committee on Railroads for further consideration. The House bill was read, and Mr. Garland addressed the Senate on the subject matter.

Mr. Garland said Congress could not divest itself of its legislative power and hand it over to any commission. The powers lodged in the commission were extraordinary. It not only gave the commission legislative, but judicial powers. It seemed to him the courts were competent to deal with the question involved, and if they were not, their jurisdiction could be enlarged. The bill just passed by the House was a better measure than any of the measures proposed in the Senate, and the House bill defined what was wanted, and did not delegate the power of Congress to any other body. Mr. Garland wanted to see the object in view accomplished, and felt he could say that the Senators on his side of the chamber would cheerfully aid in bringing the matter to a close at this session. He believed greater progress would now be made by recommitting all bills and proposed amendments to the committee, who could consider them and report promptly to the Senate.

Mr. Collum said that, while willing to concede everything possible to Mr. Garland, whom he regarded as one of the most eminent lawyers in the Senate or country, he nevertheless preferred to have the bill discussed in the Senate instead of in committee.

The motion to recommit was rejected by a vote of 18 to 24.

Mr. Cullom said when, after discussion, the Senate bill should be perfected he would move to amend the House bill by substituting the Senate bill for it.

Mr. Wilson's amendment making it unlawful for railroads to discriminate against localities or individuals was added to the bill.

Mr. Vance proposed an amendment making it unlawful for railroads to charge small shippers higher rates than large shippers.

While this amendment was still pending the Senate went into executive session and soon adjourned until Monday.

More Trouble on the San Carlos Reservation.

TUCSON, Jan. 9.—A letter was received here to-day from Gila Bend stating that Indian Agent Wheeler is about to attempt the ejectment of ranchers living on the Maricopa reservation. The ranchers claim to have settled on the said lands long before the reservation was made, and there will be trouble if forcibly ejected from their homes and farms. The agent has threatened to use the troops if necessary.

Washouts on the Canadian Pacific.

VICTORIA, B. C., January 9.—There are several serious landslides and washouts on the Canadian Pacific Railway. No through trains have run for ten days. The fire in the Wellington colliery has been subdued. All the shafts are full of gas. A creek will be turned into the shafts to expel the gas.

Mexican Central Loan.

BOSTON, Jan. 9.—Of the $3,000,000 loan called for by the Mexican Central Railway Company $1,700,000 had been subscribed up to the time of closing the books. The remainder will be taken by a syndicate headed by Albert W. Nickerson.

ST. JOHN TALKS.

He Denies Clarkson's Story and Defies Him.

CLARKSON REPEATS HIS ASSERTION.

He Says in a Few Days the Letter Detailing St. John's Corruption will be Given to the Public.

Associated Press Dispatches to The Times.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—"I have read the article in this morning's Tribune," said ex-Governor John P. St. John of Kansas, late Prohibition candidate for President, who is stopping at the Sherman House, this morning, "in which it is said that J. S. Clarkson, editor of the Iowa State Register and Iowa member of the National Republican Committee, renews his charges that I sought to obtain money from the Republicans and make a contract to leave the field and betray the Prohibition cause. I defy him and his committee to do his worst. They set out some time ago by saying I had written a letter in which I had committed myself to corrupt propositions. No amount of goading has been sufficient to induce them to produce any such letters, and now they have shifted their ground and begin to speak of some one who they say was a secret agent employed by me to conduct the corrupt negotiation, but why do they not tell who he is? I am sure I had no such agent, and I do not believe that Mr. Clarkson has any particular man in mind when he speaks of such an agent. It seems to me that if [illegible] their purposes would be best subserved by telling his name and exposing my transactions through him at once. The truth is, that if I had had any desire to sell out I would not have had either to apply to the Republican Committee or to employ a go-between to do it for me. The whisky power of this country has never been short of money within my recollection, and I never saw the day when a corrupt man on the other side could not get his price without any directing."

"Where are you from and which way are you bound?"

"I am just from my home in Kansas and am on my way to Minnesota, where I am to engage in what the Republicans call settling prohibition for twenty years. I expect to spend about four years at it."

"What figure do you expect prohibition to cut in the next Presidential election?"

"That will depend very largely on what kind of an administration Cleveland gives us. I think it likely that we will carry several States and hold the balance of power in the electoral college, but of course this is all guess-work."

MR. CLARKSON REITERATES.

He Says the Country Will Learn the Facts Shortly.

DES MOINES, Jan. 9.—Mr. Clarkson was shown the interview with St. John at Chicago, sent out by the Associated Press to-night. In regard to St. John's charges that himself and others of the National Committee had first said that he himself had written letters in which he had committed himself to corrupt propositions, Clarkson said no one had ever yet made such charges, and that St. John knew they had not, and therefore there has been no shifting of the character of the accusations against him. "St. John affects to say," said Mr. Clarkson, "that he had no agent or friend attempting to negotiate for him, and that he does not believe I have any particular person in mind in speaking of such agent. I did have such a person in mind, and St. John knows very well who it is, for he was in correspondence with him all the time the person was seeking to make a deal with me. The person is a well-known Kansas politician, who is everywhere known in the State as having been St. John's next friend in politics when he was a Republican. The man came to me with a letter of introduction and an indorsement from a United States Senator. St. John knows as well or better than I who the man is, and a telegram from him to that party asking the whole truth to be told would give the public all the facts. He will not give them at my request, but doubtless he would at St. John's. Mr. St. John need not try evasion any longer. The country will know all the facts and details of his perfidy before many days."

THE STATE CAPITAL.

Rumors and Surmises as to What Will Be Done on Monday.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 9.—Various stories are current as to the means which will be employed for effecting an organization of the Senate on Monday. One is to the effect that on Monday a Democratic Senator from San Francisco will turn up missing, but the faction to which he will belong is undetermined. The Read-outs say if he is one of their men a pair will be secured for him, and the Radicals assert that they can easily secure a pair for any one of their men who may miss the morning train from the city. The Radicals say they have now done everything in their power to effect a compromise with the Read-outs, and the latter faction assert that their ultimatum is, and always will be, "Knight or nothing." The deadlock is, therefore, no nearer solution than ever. It is stated that the Read-out Democratic Senators will soon issue a manifesto to the public explaining their position on the organization of the Senate. It is stated great pressure is already being brought to bear on Speaker Parks by the text-book lobby to appoint the Committee on Education of the Assembly in the interest of the nullification of the late text-book amendment to the Constitution. As soon as all the committees are appointed three investigations into the affairs of the present administration will be commenced. One of these will be into the management of the State prisons; another into the late defalcations in Treasurer January's office, and the third into the office of Secretary of State Thompson. The irrigation men have as yet shown no signs of their intentions at the present session. It is said, however, that next week not less than a dozen bills on this subject will be introduced into the House. Sargent left here for San Francisco last night and Perkins leaves to-day. Estee will remain here until the Legislature again convenes on Monday.

A rumor was current here to-day that Perkins and Estee had agreed that if neither could secure a majority in caucus they would agree upon Stanford. Estee was interviewed in regard to this, and said that no compromise of any kind had been considered by him. He said he was not running for any second man. The latest regarding the Senate deadlock is that the Republicans, in order to organize the Senate on Monday, have agreed to vote with the Read-outs for Knight as President pro tem.

A Blackmailer in Santa Fe.

SANTA FE, N. M., Jan. 9.—George A. Taylor, claiming to represent Lloyd, Williams & Co., directory publishers of Chicago, the Times of Chicago, and the Educational Journal of Washington, D. C., has been in the city two weeks attempting to blackmail territorial officers. Among others, Chief Justice Axtell was mulcted, besides a number of private citizens of small loans. Last night he entered the boarding-house of Mrs. Case, and demanded all the ready cash she had in the house, under a threat of bodily harm, when Mrs. Case caught up a chair and knocked him down. A large number of Taylor's victims made known their grievances yesterday, and should he be caught it is likely that he will be treated to a coating of red paint and feathers.

Justifiable Homicide.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 9.—The Picayune's Brookhaven, Mississippi, special says: A party of bulldozers in Franklin Co., went to the house of a negro Saturday night for the purpose of whipping and otherwise maltreating him. They demanded admittance, and being refused one of the party, a young man named Murray, burst the door open and rushed in, when his brains were blown out by the discharge of a shotgun. The rest of the party fled. The Coroner's jury returned a verdict of justifiable homicide.

Nevada's Senator.

CARSON, Nev., Jan 9.—In the Republican caucus yesterday Jones received the vote for United States Senator. The Democrats caucus on Monday, and Ellis, Cassidy, Deal and Keating are mentioned as likely to receive a complimentary vote.

CARSON, Nev., Jan. 9.—This afternoon the Democrats held a caucus to see who should receive the complimentary vote for United States Senator, and Robert P. Keating was decided upon. The Legislature adjourned until Monday.

A Murderer Captured.

MERCED, Jan. 9.—Deputy Sheriff Howard and posse tracked Charles Hart, who murdered his brother day before yesterday, to a cabin in the mountains. He surrendered and was taken to jail at Mariposa for safe keeping.

San Joaquin Canal.

FRESNO, Jan. 9.—Water has been turned into the upper San Joaquin canal and is now flowing nearly the entire length of it. When completed it will be one of the largest canals in the State.

UNION PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Annual Report of Government Directors.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—The annual report of the Board of Government Directors of the Union Pacific Railway Company was submitted to-day to the Secretary of the Interior. It is understood to have been drawn up by Merriman, of Iowa, secretary to the Board, and signed by all the members. The Directors criticise with considerable severity the former management of the road, more especially in practices and policies of the company pertaining to controversies with the government. In those relating to the conduct of the traffic department and those relating to some features of its financial management there has been a radical change in the administration, and the new management credited with making honest efforts to eradicate evils heretofore existing. This effort they regard as promising substantial and felicitous results if execution of the presently declared plans and policies of the Administration are not in some way interfered with or prevented. Stress is laid upon the importance of placing the responsible management of the road in the possession of a general manager. This has not been the case heretofore, and there has been consequently a conflict of opinion between the directors and the local management. The Government directors, basing their convictions upon a pretty thorough investigation of the conditions and characteristic of the road, feel impelled to express the opinion that the directory has not been familiar with its real requirement and the scope of its interests. In fact, those interests are not readily comprehended. The Government Directors feel confident that the Union Pacific Directors [illegible] their private affairs, have not sufficiently in a practical manner acquainted themselves with the interests in their keeping, and the management is at present employing and applying every device in the way of economy that the most scrupulous care can suggest or ingenuity invent. The immediate and temporary result of this has been up to this time very gratifying. The Union Pacific has the reputation of being exceptionally conservative in the matter of granting free passes. The statement of those issued during the year last past has been only "trip" passes, and not including annuals, show the lowest of one week's issue was $13,772 and the highest $21,452. Computation is upon the basis of regular passenger tariff rates. Measures to correct this are demanded, and, gratifying to say, have been inaugurated. It is within the knowledge of the Government directors that the President and General Manager recognize the necessity of popularizing the road so far as they may, though the obstacles in the way are numerous.

It is the constant fear of adverse legislation on one hand, and constant determination on the part of the public to have remedial legislation on the other, that tends to render railway securities uncertain in value and the operation of railroads uncertain of success, and of greatly increased difficulty to their management. Securities that should have certain and stable values are thus frequently converted into simple mediums of speculation. The extension of stock holdings in the Union Pacific develops some interesting and very important features. There are 608,685 shares of $100 each. The Boston stock ledger, which in 1875 contained the names of only 95 holders, representing 67,121 shares, now contains 5145 names, representing more than 231,000 shares. In 1875 the average to each shareholder was 706, now it is 44. Of the 95 then only 33 are now the record. It thus appears that about 45.9 in each 150 of those who hold stock to-day were not holders in 1875. Not one in 1850 of the present Union Pacific stockholders were owners of stock in 1875. There are now 7713 holders of stock. In 1875 there were scarcely as many as a hundred. At that time holdings were in large amounts. Now 3550 out of this total of 7713 persons hold ten shares or less; 3449 hold between 10 and 100 shares; 393 between 100 and 250 shares; 165 between 250 and 500, and 156 more show 500 each. These comprise women, mainly in New England, 2346, holding 58,016 shares; trustees or guardians, 427, holding 9672 shares, and banks, holding as collateral, 11566 shares.

The indebtedness of the company to the Government is assuming enormous proportions. Nearly every conceivable question connected with the transportation problem, so-called, is coming to be involved in this issue between the company and Government. Each of these is a serious question. Each addresses itself to careful legislative consideration. During a period of prosperity the road's bonded and floating debt was increasing. Earnings were devoted to dividend purposes or to the acquisition of lateral lines or extensions, paying on non-paying until the maximum of the company's bonded stock and floating indebtedness had reached, June 30, 1884, the enormous sum of $13,110,020. Its assets to meet this were cash, $1,192,070; company's stock and bonds, $2,072,253; sinking fund in hands of trustees, $32,000, and bills and accounts receivable, $2,913,419, making a net debt of $6,977,000. By the operation of the policies inaugurated by the new administration this debt was reduced up to September 30th $1,763,168, or to $5,137,000. This is a result over which the administration is disposed to congratulate itself in view of the commercial conditions and complications which a change of administration is calculated, during its incipiency, at least, to develop, if not to magnify. The rate of decrease of this debt notwithstanding was about $600,000 during each of the months of October and November. Its reduction was a consummation to which the new management specially and strenuously addressed itself. Advances June 30, 1884, to other roads in process of completion and on construction account, which advances to which were and some still are unadjusted, were and are payable in bonds and stock of such roads amounted to $7,337,095. The Union Pacific holds a majority of the stocks and bonds of nearly all its branch lines.

The completion of the Oregon Short Line is noticed, and the belief expressed that it will soon be not only self-sustaining, but a source of income to the Union Pacific. The company respectfully protests that the investment of such sinking fund for the benefit of the government or creditors as has been accumulated is unjust to it. The fund is not so invested as to earn the full measure of its ability if properly invested. In conclusion, the directors say the very happy fact that the stock of the company is owned now mainly by investors instead of speculators has had great weight with government directors. It has conclusively determined in their minds the fact that perhaps above all things that are to be avoided in legislation is the contingency of such terms being imposed upon the company as to render its stock practically and permanently non-dividend paying, thus giving it an uncertain and purely speculative value. The result of this would be to utterly discourage all bona fide investors and holders, and force the entire volume of stock into Wall street, and finally into the hands of a few speculators, to whom control is better than ownership, because cheaper, and affording all necessary means to wreck and prey upon the resources of the corporation. It is difficult to conceive a more unfortunate evil to the road than such an event. It would be ruinous to the road and would be destructive of the Government upon it. If the Government would take the securities of the branch lines or require that they be deposited as security additional to that it now has, and fix upon a stated amount to be paid at stated periods, such as would in turn liquidate the debt, but which would not compel the company to impose unjust terms upon its patrons, and would justify the Government in prohibiting it from doing so, this controversy might be regarded as virtually settled.

A Vessel and Cargo Seized for Smuggling.

CHICAGO, Jan. 9.—The News' Philadelphia special says: A special inspector of the Treasury Department, assisted by two officers of the Philadelphia Custom-house, made a seizure of smuggled goods, which is the lagest ever made at this port. The seizure consists of thirty cases of assorted liquors, ten barrels of brandy, a number of casks of olive oil, and a large quantity of cork and tile, in all valued at $110,000. The goods were found on board the Italian bark Santo Saulto, concealed in what the Captain said were empty coal-oil barrels. The vessel, as well as the cargo, is forfeited under the law, so the whole seizure amounts to $210,000, half of which goes to the revenue officers.

Sumner Will Contest Loutitt's Seat.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 9.—The Call's Washington special says: It is understood that Congressman Sumner will contest the seat of Representative-elect Loutitt for the Second Congressional District. Loutitt received a majority of 119, which Sumner, it is said, has proof were fraudulently cast. Sumner denies that there is any truth in the item that he is an applicant for the position as stenographer of the House.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 10, 1885.

Commerce Between the States.

The House Interstate Commerce bill, known as the Reagan bill, which has passed that body by a vote of 158 to 75, is one of the most important measures ever enacted. It makes a revolution in the transportation business, and more strongly crystallizes into the form of law the principle enunciated in the Constitution, that Congress has the power and the right to regulate commerce between the States, than any legislative measure that ever preceded it. [The text of the bill was published in yesterday's TIMES.] Its fate in the Senate is problematical. The opposition of the great transportation lines will be felt there, and it is not impossible that the passage of the bill through that body may be postponed indefinitely. If it becomes a law it cannot of course be expected to work perfectly in every respect from the first, since its effect will be to radically undo the whole transportation system and practice now in vogue, so far as it affects lines running through more than one State, causing of necessity some confusion in the outset of its operation. But that its general and ultimate effect will be good we have no doubt. It will serve to correct existing gross inequalities in charges by different lines of transportation for the same service, and will reduce to a uniform standard the freight tariffs throughout the country, now so widely at variance with each other.

The bill embodies a sound and healthy principle: it declares in strong terms the power of Congress to lay its hands on the overgrown monopolies which have sprung up all over the land, through the non-action of Congress and the complaisance of State Legislatures, and to say to them: "You are subjects of the State—you are amenable to the Republic." This is a great step in advance, and, we trust, is the beginning of a governmental policy whose assertion, within reasonable and just limits, shall characterize the Congresses of the future. Internal improvements we believe in; they should be fostered and encouraged by the Government; but they should at the same time be controlled in the interest of the whole people, whose money builds them, and on whose patronage they are to live. It is impolitic for the Government to own and run them; it is politic and right for it to regulate and control them—to make them do their duty by it and the people.

It is a shame and a reproach—a humiliation to a great government—that the existing Pacific railroads should have been so long suffered to escape their obligations to the nation; to default on their interest due and overdue; to fail in the duty required of them by law and their charters to accumulate a sinking fund to pay off their obligations to that Government whose generous aid made their existence possible; to put into the private pockets of their stockholders, without accountability, even, the profits in which the nation has a right to share.

The principles of the Reagan bill have been long and thoroughly discussed in Congress and the press, and we believe the measure reflects the dominant sentiment of the country on that subject.

Without any blind and unreasoning hostility on the part of the mass of the people to the great transportation lines as such, there exists at the same time a settled determination on their part to force these great corporations to do their duty to the Government and the people; to make them amenable to just law; to keep them from towering above the States and the nation, and waxing so strong that their strength takes the form of insolence and oppression.

The bill in question is very thorough and broad in its scope, very severe in its penalties, and aims to cover the ground completely. It is not likely to pass the Senate without amendment.

THE indictment of Clarkson, of Iowa, against St. John, is plain and very damaging. The apostle of temperance is directly charged with offering to sell himself out to the Republicans in the Presidential campaign, and for the pitiful sum of $25,000 in hand, paid, to withdraw from the field as a Presidential candidate and "feather" his speeches in favor of Blaine. The sale was not consummated, however. The facts that St. John was the cause of Cleveland's election, and that he is a mercenary political scoundrel, become more and more patent as time rolls on. This Kansas false prophet has grossly deceived a great many good, sincere, but mistaken people. He has dishonored himself and the cause he professes to represent. Away with the saintly hypocrite!

THE Supervisors, at their session yesterday, had before them an application for the granting of another wharf franchise at San Pedro. The matter was postponed till the February meeting. Meanwhile we trust the members of the Board will, without reference to individuals or to the merits of particular cases, make up their minds to refuse all grants of that nature, in the interest of the whole people. The shore line, what there remains of it not held by intrenched corporations and private parties, should be kept free for the public, where the public is the owner thereof, and the spot is fit for an embarcadero.

Why Does He Want to Go?

From the Stockton Herald.]

It is barely possible that the lurid accounts told by travelers about the sensuous, dreamy existence to be enjoyed in the land of Kalakaua has its charms, and exerts a fascination upon the imagination of the political office-seeker. If this is the reason why so many faces are turned toward the islands, Colonel Ayers ought to be able and willing to say so. * * * Now let Colonel Ayers speak out and explain the cause of man's desire to mingle with the Kanakas and Kanakesses.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

The Senate Deadlock—The Stockton "Read-outs" Get Revenge.

SOME POLITICAL BOSSES "SHOWING UP."

The Senatorial Outlook—Federal Privileges in Sight—Caucus, Coin, and Personal Influence.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 8.—Sacramento enjoys a rare experience. Her rivers are overflowing, her resorts for public patronage full, and her politicians are filling. It has never been estimated how many eagles commune about a single carcass, but to say the least the political sky here is black with eagles.

The Senate called to order Monday, at 12 m. The Senators elect qualified to the oath of office, and the Senate adjourned on motion of Senator Del Valle till Tuesday, at 11 a. m. The ensuing interval was employed by numerous party caucuses. Consternation spread in the ranks of the "grand old party" when it was found that the read-outs meant to continue read out, or else be ceremoniously and honorably read in. All sorts of tactics were employed to effect harmony, which only terminated in a compromise of putting up Dr. Benj. Knight, of Santa Cruz, one of the read-outs, as Speaker pro tem. of the Senate. Bill English and W. W. Foote heard of this and showed up on the ground forthwith with the Stockton convention colors flying, and in connection with Del Valle set about to defeat the compromise and to reassert the Stocktonian doctrines of Democratic purity. The five read-outs — Senators C. W. Cross, of Nevada; M. J. Kelly, of San Francisco; J. T. Dougherty, of San Francisco; Dr. Knight, of Santa Cruz; W. W. Kellogg of Plumas, and Lieutenant-Governor Daggett withdrew from the caucus. Of course such discouraging movements were heralded to headquarters, and later in the afternoon Chris. Buckley was seen threading his way through the ranks, seriously and vigorously conversing with his subjects. It is not known what pressure he will bring to bear on the Read-outs, but it is thought he will labor to effect a compromise, and possibly effect it.

The situation is very amusing. The five Read-outs have their turn now. The Stockton dust is still in their eyes. They will either make the Greathouse-English faction get down on their knees, or they will ride the dolphin ashore. No telling how long the deadlock will continue. Pride of the Radicals and revenge of the Read-outs may continue delay for weeks.

Jordan and Hazard fought for a secret ballot in the caucus Monday afternoon. The Parks men fought for viva voce vote. Jordan and Hazard think one of them would have won if they could have gotten a secret ballot. But many broke loose when it came to opposing a veteran politician and wire-worker openly. Parks retained all inferior appointments to himself; whereas, formerly appointees and the elect had these desirable auxiliaries to keep their supporters interested. A number of seekers are disappointed thereby and are leaving word with the hotel clerks to wake them for the early train.

Dr. W. B. May has the credit of making Parks's fight. He towed in the San Francisco delegation. He's a good one. Jerome Porter, of Santa Cruz, broke the slate and with the help of Jim Kelly, the royal connubiator of San Jose, and Pyle and H. T. Hazard, who made a strong appeal for him in the House, he crawled in as Sergeant-at-Arms.

The Senate resolved to have a chaplain; and by way of variety give each minister in Sacramento a chance, by inviting them to open the Senate in turns. Carroll Davis was allowed by motion $6 per diem. Nothing has been said about the rotatory chaplains of the Senate. I suppose the conservative modesty of the Senators will not allow their servants to go unrewarded.

The number of applicants to Parks for positions is Legion. Parks kept in his room all day after his nomination to keep from being bothered. He has blocked out most of his appointments, but they are not yet announced. H. B. Everett of Mendocino, (nephew to Parks) will be one of the gate-keepers of the Assembly. Hon. Jordan, one of Parks's contestants, will be chairman of the Educational Committee.

Parks has announced he will appoint only orphans and half orphans as pages. If he keeps this promise he will do the right thing. Few men get their hands shook more than Speaker Parks just now. He is philosopher enough to know that the devotion springs more from the purse than the heart.

Hazard will be a prominent member of the Judiciary Committee.

Col. Edwards will be chairman of an important committee, probably County Government.

Col. Banbury will have a good place on Committee on Public Buildings.

As usual there is some quibbling about the organization of the Senate affecting the United States Senatorial fight. Some say the Democrats will fight it off all term and throw the appointment of United States Senator into the hands of Governor Stoneman. Others take the ground that the Senate is perpetually organized and that the notion is folly. It is said Stoneman considers the Senate an organized body. Dave McClure thinks it is not organized until its constituent officers are appointed. This is to say the most, only a technicality, and one on which no United States Senator need fear to rest his hopes.

Sargent has his headquarters in the Golden Eagle Hotel. He is surrounded by his satellites Tom Shannon, Sam McCulloch, S. S. Bemis, Wiggins, Gannon et als. He looks a little serious and is scarcely seen down stairs among the crowd. If you pass upstairs along the hall you can see him most any time protruding his head out of the door as if he were looking to see if Bismarck were near.

Estee has his rooms in the Capital Hotel. He keeps modestly in, as if he were afraid he might say something outside. Occasionally he can be seen in Perkins's quarters.

Perkins entertains his friends in rooms of the Golden Eagle at the other end of the hall that leads from Sargent's rooms. A. G. Booth and Alex. Badlam are said to be his managers. Perkins can be found most any time downstairs mixing with the crowd, smiling, handshaking and complimenting his friends. He seems in good courage and has a sort of Senatorial look on his countenance. No prophecy can tell what the lucky Governor will do.

One Senator offers to bet $500 to any sum that Perkins will win. The city and one-horse politicians are sure that Sargent will go East. Others say Estee is the solid man and will eventually triumph. About half the Senate are holding themselves in meek reserve to serve the country in the United States Senate in case sixty-one men cannot agree upon the list candidates. There is a good opportunity for a protracted and vigorous fight. Estee a lawyer, Sargent a politician, and Perkins the business man, represent strong elements. The controlling interests of the State have their agents here to convince the different sections of the State as to their needs.

The galleries of both houses and lobbies are packed with runners, office-seekers and visitors, who enjoy the contests, especially in the Senate.

The current report of Stanford's possible entry into the contest for U. S. Senator has grown into a full-grown probability. There is very strong feeling here in favor of Stanford. Prominent men discuss his intellectual and pecuniary influence over the State and his landed interest common to the farming classes, and generally think he will deal fairly as between people and railroad. I would judge from rumor and hearsay that all Perkins's and Estee's support will go to Stanford if he is proposed, and a large portion of Sargent's followers, owing to the general feeling against Sargent.

The legislative season promises to be a gay one. A great many ladies are in attendance from all over the State—not a few from the Southern portion, and friends of Mrs. Governor Stoneman.

EEL OLIN.

Watterson Has the Bull by the Horns Again.

From the Louisville Courier-Journal (Dem.)]

The thieving tariff must go. The revenues must be reduced to the needs of government economically administered. Taxation shall be exclusively for public purposes. The platform says so. All who are not Republicans say so. He who says not so has no place or lot within Democratic lines. The Cabinet, with Bayard at its head, will be framed to propose it. The next Congress, with Carlisle as its Speaker, will be organized to carry it out. Little boats had better keep near shore, and little boys come in out of the wet. Down with that thieving tariff.

THE UMBRELLA FIEND.

His Various Ways of Annoying People with the Favorite Instrument of Torture.

With a rainy day comes also the reign of the umbrella fiend, and of the two the latter is by far the most to be dreaded. What is a simple wetting to nerves and temper excited in various ways by the fiend who, with outspread umbrella held firmly above his head, makes his way along the sidewalk without a curve or inclination to favor the passer-by. The offensive umbrella is pushed into faces, the ribs are entangled in ladies' hair, and what delights the fiend still more, is when a ten-dollar silk umbrella becomes the victim of his malice. Just a firm hold of his own weapon held at the proper height, a quick, firm tread, a little push and a rebound, and the deed is done, the aristocratic neighbor is no more. Just a little hole—not the size of a dime—yet it is beyond all human aid, the help of darning or court-plaster not excepted. An umbrella is an independent article; it holds too firm a place in the universe to accept of treatment of this kind. If kindly used it is your friend for years, but a careless tear or any rough usage will rend it at once to pieces like the one-hoss shay which rendered up its account with no half-way measures.

With a closed umbrella the fiend has still numerous resources; he tucks it securely under his arm at nearly right angles to his body; then, when he sees the victim near enough and in the proper range, he turns quickly about, generally sending out an eye if expert; if not, at least drawing first blood. In the horse car he squeezes the end between the slats of the flooring about two feet from his body, then grasps the handle tightly, waiting for developments. The wet, clinging skirts of the ladies make them, in this case, the best victims, as a man with a little jump can generally recover his balance, but when a lady's foot is entangled the fiend's happiness is complete.

Still another frolic for the umbrella fiend is to cling to the wet and dripping umbrella on entering a parlor, and when unperceived by servant or attendant, put it against the neatly frescoed or papered wall, there to leave an ugly stain and on the carpet an inky puddle.

Oh, the Horrid, Horrid Mixers.

From the Wisconsin State Journal.]

The uneducated palates of a Wisconsin total abstinence society did not detect the rum in the lemonade on a festive occasion until gallons had been swallowed and visible intoxication had been produced. The wicked mixer of the beverage had told them that the peculiar flavor was due to something new in sugar.

At Hard Pan.

Albany Journal.]

Two gentlemen met on State street this morning. Said one to the other: "How is business?" "Poor," was the reply. "I met with a little accident. Night before last burglars broke into my store, but left without taking anything. Everything was marked so low they came around next morning and made purchases."

McKusick and the Bucolic Editors.

H. J. McKusick, ex-railway mail agent of this coast, he who went around through the interior fixing the bucolic editors for Sargent after the November election, is here looking satisfied and triumphant. What can Sargent do for him?

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

SANTA ANA.

NOTES OF BUSINESS—THE NEW YEAR'S "TIMES."

Correspondence of the TIMES.]

SANTA ANA, Jan. 8.—The mud embargo that prevailed during the holidays is fast disappearing under the bright sun of 1885.

It was an interesting sight to witness the determined efforts of our country people to keep up the good old custom of making presents to their families and other friends during the holiday season. Though the roads were well nigh impassable, yet the people came to town by wagon-loads, carriage-loads, cart-loads, on horseback, and some on foot, all intent on making everybody feel good at least once in the year. After all, this is a good custom, and long may it be perpetuated, for it brings joy at least once a year to families that have but few bright spots in their experience.

A little talk with our business men reveals the fact that the business of the past summer and fall has not quite equaled that of the previous year, although the volume of business nearly equals that of former years; but there are more business houses to share in the amount of business done. The trade with bee men has been larger than usual owing to the large honey crop of the past season. On the whole, our business men have no reason to complain, as their business is assuming more of a healthful and legitimate nature owing to the cash system coming into vogue quite generally among our merchants, while the credit system is growing in disfavor.

An Immigration society has been formed of the wide-awake people of this valley for the purpose of publishing documents which shall set forth the resources of this valley, its climatic conditions, favorable to health and comfort, and other advantages here to be found which are sought for by the invalid and home-seeker. This is a move in the right direction, and if the documents are judiciously scattered will without doubt secure many new dwellers for this valley. Just now the road fathers are looking after the bad places in the roads and making some much-needed improvements.

The family of Rev. Mr. Petty came to town on the train Sabbath evening last. The Presbyterians of Tustin are observing the week of prayer.

All were amazed at the size, make-up and information contained in the New Year's TIMES. This paper alone would be a splendid document for immigration societies. NEWTON.

Chinese Paper.

Eighteen hundred years ago, says the Papermaker's Journal (London), the Chinese, acting upon the wasp's suggestion, made paper from fibrous matter reduced to pulp. Now each province makes its own peculiar variety from the innermost bark of different trees. The young bamboo, which grows six or eight inches in a single night, is whitened, reduced to pulp in a mortar, and sized with alum. From this pulp sheets are made in a mould by hand. The celebrated Chinese rice paper, that so resembles woolen and silk fabrics, and on which are painted quaint birds and flowers, is manufactured from compressed pith, which is first cut up spirally, by a keen knife, into thin slices, six inches wide and twice as long. Immense quantities of paper are used by the Chinese for a great variety of purposes. Funeral papers, or paper imitations of earthly things which they desire to bestow on departed friends, are burned over their graves. They use paper window frames, paper sliding doors, and paper visiting cards a yard long.

Christmas Superstition.

Among the prettiest Christmas superstitions is one that is firmly believed still by the peasantry in many parts of England, Scotland, and Ireland—that when the clock strikes 12 on Christmas eve the dumb animals themselves celebrate the nativity. The cock crows out "Christus natus est" (Christ is born); the ox bellows "Ubi" (Where?) and falls on his knees; the lamb bleats "Bethlem;" the ass brays "Eamus" (Let us go); and the bees hum the hundredth psalm. In Germany the belief prevails that even the trees share in the general rejoicing, and the peasants go out and salute them, saying, "Little tree, wake up; Dame Christmas is coming."

Origin of the National Museum.

From an illustrated article by Ernest Ingersoll, in the January Century, we quote the following: "In no single respect, perhaps, has the progress of the American capital been more striking than in the history of the National Museum. Originating in a quantity of 'curiosities' which had been given to the United States by foreign powers, or sent home by consuls and naval officers, old visitors to Washington remember it as a heterogeneous cabinet in the Patent office. It included such diverse objects as the femur of a Missouri mastodon, Washington's knee-breeches, and the Oriental spoils of the Wilkes' expedition around the world. In 1846 a step was taken toward something coherent and creditable, by an act of Congress establishing a National Museum, following the precedent of a dozen or more other nations; but this intention took effect very slowly, though various exploring expeditions and embassies largely increased the bulk of the collections. When the inventive faculty of this Yankee race had crowded the Patent office with models, the 'cabinet of curiosities' was trundled over to the Smithsonian Institution."

FINANCE AND TRADE.

Stocks and Bonds.

By Telegraph to The Times.

NEW YORK, Jan. 9.—Governments were a fraction higher, railways firmer. Stocks opened firm, and on purchases for out-of-town account prices rose ⅛ to 1⅛ per cent before midday. On sales to realize a reaction occurred, and later, on reports that efforts to restore east-bound freight rates have not been successful, a decline of ⅜ to 2 per cent ensued. Union Pacific rose 1⅜ early in the day on the announcement that the Government Directors' report will be published to-morrow, and will indorse the action of the present administration. Compared with last night, closing prices are ½ to 1⅛ per cent lower, except Rock Island, Jersey Central and Erie, which are ⅛ to ⅛ higher.

Maltby's Life of Lincoln.

"Historians have come to recognize the fact that biography is the vital essence of history, and that the revolutions, battles, inventions, discoveries and reforms centre not the germ of the facts which shape and mould an age. The men prominent in politics, science and religion are the real factors in producing the results which form the characteristics of the age. Especially is this so in the character of Abraham Lincoln. The author writes as one who was let into the secrets of a life that deservedly became famous." The work is for sale at the bookstore of BRAND & BASSETT, 39 S. MORTGAGE SALE.

In the Superior Court of Los Angeles County, State of California.

Charles Bauer and Lise Bauer, his wife, vs. Albert Osthoff, John Doe and Richard Roe. } Case No. 3631

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT UNDER and by virtue of a decree of foreclosure and order of sale, entered in the above court on the 22d of December, 1884, and a writ of execution for the enforcement of said judgment, requiring the sale of property under foreclosure of mortgage reciting said decree, and dated December 22, 1884, in the above entitled case in favor of Charles Bauer and Lise Bauer, his wife, plaintiffs, and Albert Osthoff, defendant, for the sum $2459 50 and interest, attorneys' fees, costs and accruing costs, a certified copy of which decree of foreclosure and sale, duly attested on the 22d day of December, 1884, and delivered to me on January 5, 1885, together with the writ annexed thereto, whereby I am commanded to sell at public auction, to the highest and best bidder, for lawful money of the United States, the following and in said decree described real estate, to wit:

Lying and being in the city of Los Angeles, County of Los Angeles, State of California, and bounded and particularly described as follows, to wit:

Commencing at a point in the northwesterly line of Flower street, distance two hundred and forty (240) feet northeasterly from the northwesterly corner of Flower and Eighth streets, and running thence northeasterly on said line of Flower street fifty-five (55) feet; thence at a right angle northwesterly and on a line parallel with said Eighth street one hundred and sixty-five (165) feet; thence at a right angle southwesterly and parallel with Flower street fifty-five (55) feet; thence at a right angle southeasterly on a line parallel with Eighth street one hundred and sixty-five (165) feet, to the place of beginning, being a portion of lot number five (5), in block thirty (30), of the Huber tract, according to a plat thereof recorded in Book Two (2), page 280, of miscellaneous records of the county of Los Angeles.

Public notice is hereby given that on Monday, the 2d Day of February, 1885,

At 12 o'clock, m., of that day, I will proceed to sell at the Court House door, on Spring street, in the city and County of Los Angeles, State of California, to the highest and best bidder, for cash in lawful money of the United States, to satisfy said decree for principal, attorneys' fees, interest, costs and accruing costs, all the above described real estate, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said sums.

Given under my hand this 8th day of January, 1885. GEO. E. GARD, Sheriff.

"A cheering guest at home—EOLA TEA."

"Would you like to look through the big telescope?" asked one girl of another. To which the latter replied: "No; I'd a great deal rather look through a key hole." And yet though this girl could not appreciate the wonders of science, there was one thing which she had an unbounded appreciation for, and that was a cup of fragrant, invigorating Eola Tea.

THE FIRE LAST NIGHT.

A Big Blaze But Slight Damage—Scene of the Scorch.

About 6:30 o'clock last evening a fire alarm was sounded. The bright light in the sky down Spring street indicated the locality of the fire, and the streets leading in that direction were quickly filled with people hurrying to the scene. The fire department turned out promptly and arrived at the fire within a very few moments after the alarm was given. The fire was at 114 South Spring street. The building was a one-story frame structure, one-half of which was occupied by J. A. Johnson as a grain and feed store, the other was used by Mr. Douglass for a stationery store. The fire originated by the explosion of a lamp in Douglass' store. In an instant almost the entire building was enveloped in flames, and but little was saved from either store. Mr. Johnson was insured but Mr. Douglass was not. The Fire Department did good work in preventing the spreading of the fire, and in fifteen minutes after their water connections were made, had completely extinguished the flames. The frail, frame structure, however, was pretty badly burned out during that brief time. The adjacent house, No. 112, occupied by Mrs. Garver, was slightly damaged, the corner of the porch being burned. The damage to building and stock was estimated at about $250.

THE VETERANS.

Public Installation of Officers of Stanton Post, G. A. R.

The newly-elected officers of Stanton Post of the Grand Army of the Republic were publicly installed at the Armory last night. The hall was well filled with the members of the Post, their families and friends. The installation ceremonies were brief and impressive. The officers were almost all the same as those of last term and are as follows: Col. G. Wiley Wells, Post Commander; Major Geo. H. Bonebrake, Senior Vice; Capt. D. W. Fields, Junior Vice; J. M. Green, Quartermaster; Dr. Maynard, Post Surgeon; Capt. A. M. Thornton, Officer of the Day.

A literary and musical programme had been prepared for the occasion and followed the installation. Comrade Ira More delivered an address in which he took occasion to welcome the friends and touched upon the objects of the Grand Army organization. He was followed by "Marching Through Georgia," in which all the comrades joined with the old spirit. Recitations by Mrs. Weston, Mrs. McCullough and Miss Tilly followed, besides other army songs and instrumental music.

Colonel Wells closed the programme with an address in which he fought over some of the old battles, and recited in a pleasant manner the hardships and the deeds of valor so common to army life during the great war. The exercises were very entertaining and extended into a late hour.

WHAT THE CHILDS TRACT IS.

Read the Facts and Examine the Property.

The 50 acres of orchard and vineyard now divided into 200 large residence lots by Mr. Childs is situate in the center of the city, and is offered on the homestead plan, at $600 per lot, in payments of $25 per month, without interest. This splendid property fronts on Main street, and is bounded by Eleventh and Twelfth streets. It is being finely improved, will have six masts with electric lights; good drainage; has the city water mains, and will doubtless have first-class plank sidewalks through all its broad and graded streets, now being cut through.

The poorest lot of the 200 will be worth $1,000 within the year, for fifty handsome residences will be built during that time.

There are forty-three of the lots, on Main and Los Angeles streets, worth to-day from $1,000 to $,3000. There are 120 lots worth from $775 to $850. There are thirty-seven lots, not one of which is worth less than the $600, and many of them at least $650. The division among the lot-holders (who all pay the same amount, $600) will be on the regular homestead plan. Full particulars, with maps and circulars, will be given at the agency, 273 North Main street, opposite the Baker Block.

Possession of the lots will be given within six months, although the payments extend for eighteen months beyond that time. Of the 200 lots, 106 are already disposed of, and every day lessens the few remaining. *

The "Mirror" and "Times."

Copies of the great New Year's edition of the TIMES, containing the record of progress of the city and county, and complete and correct answers to the thousand and one questions Eastern friends ask, can still be obtained in wrappers ready for mailing at the counting-room for only five cents apiece. The MIRROR just issued for the current week is also a splendid paper to send East. Postage on either publication only one cent. "For general information about this section they are the best papers ever published here," is the universal verdict.

The Water Works.

Articles of incorporation of the Los Angeles City Water Works for increasing the capital stock were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday. At a meeting of the stockholders on January 5th, it was voted to increase the capital stock from 3100 shares to 4133 shares, and that the increased number of 1033 be sold at once and the proceeds be devoted to the improvement of pipes, mains, reservoirs and ditches, and to pay the floating debt.

A BRANCH ASYLUM.

Joint Meeting of the Board of Trade and Medical Association.

WHERE SHALL THE NEW ASYLUM GO?

Resolutions Passed and Steps Taken to Secure the Location of an Insane Asylum in this City.

A joint meeting of the Board of Trade and the Los Angeles County Medical Association was held last night at the Board of Trade rooms. Among those present were Dr. J. P. Widney, Gov. Mansfield, C. W. Gibson, Dr. Kurtz, Dr. Orme, Dr. Seymour, Mr. Germain, Mr. Macy of the Board of Supervisors, Dr. Lindley, Dr. Cochrane, Dr. Lasher, Dr. Maynard, Dr. Bicknell, Dr. Percival, Dr. Nadeau, Stephen M. White, Colonel Godfrey and others.

The meeting was called to order and Dr. J. P. Widney chosen to preside. John M. Davies was elected Secretary.

The Chair announced the object of the meeting to be to take some steps towards united action to secure the location of a State insane asylum in or near Los Angeles. The overcrowded condition of the State asylums at Stockton and Napa make the establishment of a third institution a necessity, and the present Legislature, it is thought, will pass a bill authorizing the building of one somewhere. The gentlemen present were invited to express their views on the subject.

President Gibson, on behalf of the Board of Trade, proffered the services of the Board, as well as his own individual exertion, for the accomplishment of the end as set forth by the Chair, and extended the meeting and all committees that might be appointed the use of the Board of Trade room in which to hold their meetings.

Governor Mansfield spoke briefly of the advantageous situation of Los Angeles, her railraad facilities, and of the fact that she is the chief city of Southern California in population, in wealth and importance. Other sections of the State are well represented in the matter of public institutions, and it is only fair that this section should have something, and not be set aside as an "off corner" any longer. We have need of united, vigorous action and a systematic effort to secure this asylum. When Sacramento wants anything of the State she sends her best men to the Legislature to work for it. The people unite and work together, regardless of political parties and private interest, and that is what the people of Los Angeles and Southern California must do in this case.

Dr. Ross's remarks were also strongly in favor of making a determined effort to secure the asylum. Los Angeles was entitled to it and ought to have it. The doctor referred to the efforts made some years ago to secure the location of the Branch Normal School. "At that time,' he said, "the Legislature told us that we ought to have an insane asylum instead of an educational institution. Now is the time to remind them of it."

Dr. Orme, in expressing his views, also urged a combined effort on the part of all Southern California, and heartily indorsed the remarks of General Mansfield.

Dr. Lindley, Dr. Kurtz, Mr. Macy and others spoke to the same effect, and such indeed was the sense of the meeting. Dr. Orme moved that the Chair appoint a committee to raise funds to send a representative before the Legislature in the interest of Los Angeles.

Gen. Mansfield moved an amendment to Dr. Owens's motion, which that gentleman accepted, namely, that the chair appoint a committee of three to raise money and secure the location of the third State asylum in Los Angeles and determine in what way it was thought best to proceed to accomplish that purpose, and to report at the next meeting.

The motion as amended was put and carried.

The Chair, on the suggestion of members, appointed Dr. Owen, Mr. I. W. Hellman and Mr. Germain such a committee.

Mr. Gibson moved that as the committee just appointed was to be a short-lived one, and prompt action was required, Dr. Lindley's name be added to the committee. The larger the committee the greater its influence, was his opinion.

Motion seconded and carried.

On motion, Dr. J. P. Widney and C. W. Gibson were also added to the committee. Mr. Gibson was made Chairman.

It having been said that the location of an asylum in Los Angeles would have the effect of keeping tourists away, Dr. Kurtz spoke of visiting the two insane asylums of Illinois last summer, and at each he found a throng of curious visitors. He therefore thought a similar institution here would "draw."

A motion to adjourn was lost by the arrival of several gentlemen whose views on the question under discussion were desired.

On motion of Dr. Corhrane, the Chair invited Stephen M. White to address the meeting.

Mr. White was in full sympathy with the meeting. He thought there was at present sufficient insanity in Los Angeles to warrant the building of a very large asylum. It certainly would not be hard to fill such an institution. The cost, too, of sending our insane a long distance to the asylums in the northern counties is great. During the time that Mr. White had charge of the criminal business of the county one hundred convicts were sent to the penitentiary. During the same time there were one hundred and two insane persons sent to Stockton and Napa. The climatic advantages of Southern California attract invalids of all kinds and many of the insane sent from here were people who brought their affliction with them.

Mr. White thought that by reason of the 36,000 voters in Los Angeles and adjoining counties, Southern California was certainly entitled to this third insane institution. We have the first claims and they should be pushed.

Colonel Godfrey being called upon to express his opinion, felt it his duty to disagree from the general spirit of the meeting. He might be peculiar, and no doubt was not practical, but he thought it was not far the best interest of the city that she should secure the asylum. She did not need it. Her growth and prosperity were assured without it. Los Angeles was the city of angels, and who ever heard of crazy angels? It was unpleasant, the gentleman thought, to have either a penitentiary or an asylum in a city. Whenever any one spoke of going to Stockton or Napa, their visit was associated in the minds of the hearer with an asylum. Dr. Cochran took occasion to inform the last speaker that they did not propose to make the asylum the principal feature and attraction of Los Angeles.

Dr. Owen indorsed Col. Godfrey in part. The doctor rather favored some adjacent town for the location of the asylum—one close enough to Los Angeles, whereby she might derive the business benefit of the institution, but far enough away to avoid the unpleasant notoriety.

On motion the meeting adjourned to meet at the same place on Monday evening, January 12th.

At the close of the general meeting, a committee meeting was held, and immediate steps were determined upon for raising the money to defray the expenses of a representative or representatives to Sacramento. Members of the committee will call upon the leading business men of the city to-day and Monday for subscriptions.

Capt. Janes's Menagerie.

Capt. Janes's happy family is getting along nicely. The latest addition is a sea serpent, which created a decided sensation in the market yesterday, and is one of the most peculiar-looking reptiles ever brought to this city. The veteran mariner says that yesterday his wild cat and tame cat dined in peace together, only when they got through there was but one piece left and that was the wild cat.

Col. Markham and Newport Harbor.

Col. H. H. Markham returned yesterday from Newport Harbor, which he inspected in company with W. H. Spurgeon and Mr. McFadden, of Santa Ana. The Colonel says he believes the harbor is well worthy of an appropriation for its improvement, and he will work earnestly to secure something to start the necessary work. He leaves for Washington next Wednesday.

Los Angeles in Favor.

A well-known capitalist from Santa Clara subscribed yesterday for five of the lots of the Childs tract. His name can be seen on the subscription book at the agency.

THE POSTOFFICE.

An Alleged Defense, and Some More Complaints.

Postmaster Dunkelberger has addressed the following card to the Evening Express:

In answer to the TIMES of this date, I will say that the lady's name who furnished the complaint to that paper was not Mary Moore (although the letter in question was addressed "Mary Moore,") but Mary F. Moore, and as we have a Mary J. Moore and a Mary A. Moore who receive mail at this office, it is difficult to tell which of them has claim to the letter. Does it not occur to the editor of the TIMES that when a letter is mailed for Mary F. Moore it should be addressed to Mary F. Moore? If not so addressed, the delay of delivery might be traced to an improper address.

I. R. DUNKELBERGER.

January 9, 1885.

It would seem only reasonable that if letters were asked for Mary Moore, the clerk should say, "We have letters for Mary T. Moore, Mary J. Moore, and Mary A. Moore, which do you wish?" and not say, "There is nothing for you."

The following further complaints of inefficiency, incompetency and incivility on the part of some of the postal officials, have reached the TIMES. The real names of the writers accompany the letters:

FROM A DISTINGUISHED VISITOR.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: I am glad to see in your paper of this morning some evidence that this community is alive to the inefficiency of its postoffice.

You will do the town a service by following the matter up. The term of the present postmaster is so near at end that it is probably too much to hope for any bettering of things under his rule. But it will be well to have his successor understand that there must be a reform.

The truth is, it is a matter of marvel to all strangers coming here, that such a state of things has been so long endured.

I myself, on my first visit to Los Angeles, three years ago, was so much annoyed by delays and losses of my mail matter, that I came to consider it a serious objection to the town as a place of sojourn. I have never yet met an Eastern person who had been here for any length of time who had not had the same experience, and felt the same bootless indignation.

My astonishment was great indeed, on returning here this winter, to find that there had been no change in the administration or in the methods of the postoffice. In fact it appears to me that things are even worse than formerly.

I have mailed to me, in New York and elsewhere, three daily and five weekly newspapers. I receive them—those that I receive at all—in batches of four, five, or seven, as it may be. Of one, a small paper, easily overlooked and trodden under foot, I think I received about half that came. Several valuable book parcels have never come to hand at all.

When to such carelessness as this is added insolence on the part of delivery clerks, it is really time for energetic public remonstrance.

Yesterday a young woman sent to the postoffice to get a valuable registered letter. Having succeeded in getting it only after a very long time and considerable incivility, she said to the clerk: "I am quite sure that there are other letters here to my address. Will you please to look?"

"I can't be bothered to look now!" was his reply.

There may be other places in the world where such methods and manners as these would be tolerated, but if there are I have failed, in a somewhat varied experience as a traveler, both in America and in Europe, to discover them.

STRANGER.

Los Angeles, Friday noon, Jan. 9.

Another correspondent suggests that the Los Angeles postoffice

OUGHT TO BE SENT TO THE NEW ORLEANS EXPOSITION.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: I notice in your paper of this date a communication From Mrs. Mary Moore in reference to the mismanagement of the business of the Los Angeles postoffice. I feel great sympathy for Mrs. Moore, for I have been a victim in the same way. My letters have been kept for months at a time, although I have called regularly several times a week for them. Such gross carelessness I have never seen equaled, even in a backwoods postoffice, kept in a whisky-mill. As I learn that there is a postoffice department at the New Orleans Exposition, I strongly recommend that the postmaster be suspended, and that the postoffice and its force be moved holus bolus to the Exposition to show, by way of contrast, the wors tconducted postoffice in the United States.

AMUSEMENTS.

KATIE PUTNAM.—Lena, the Madcap, was given at the Opera House last night to an appreciative audience. To-day there will be two performances at the matinee, which will no doubt be crowded; Old Curiosity Shop will be given, and at the evening performance, Child of the Regiment.

ROSE EYTINGE.—The sale of seats continues for the engagement of this popular artist.

His Girl Was Insulted.

Last night about 11 o'clock a policeman found two young men engaged in a quarrel in front of the Fashion stables, while a young lady waited a short distance away. The escort fancied his girl had been insulted by a remark of the loafer and so he placed her in a convenient place near by to witness him demolish the eur. He was proceeding to do the fellow up when the officer suggested to him that he had better take his girl to her mother firs,t then return to the battle.

Dismissed.

The City Court was crowded yesterday by eager spectators, anxious to see what disposition Mayor Spence would make of the prostitutes arrested by the Chief of Police and his assistants in Thursday night's raid. The cases of Annie Forrest, May Rodgers, Anita Sanchez, Minnie Haw, J. W. Carson and Rob Arminious were called in the morning and continued until 4 o'clock, at which time they were dismissed because the parties had been arrested without the necessary warrants.

A Theft and Arrest.

An overcoat and a silver watch were stolen yesterday a little after 12 o'clock from the rooms of J. A. Woods in the Ponet Block. Mr. Woods reported the matter to Chief of Police McCarthy. In less than a quarter of an hour Officer Fletcher arrested two men, Frank Deerborn and Joseph Sweeney, who had the coat in their possession. The watch has not been found.

Arrested on Warrants.

Officer Cooney arrested May Rodgers, one of the women discharged from the City Court yesterday afternoon, last night on a warrant charging her with keeping a disorderly house. J. Sartiar was also arrested about the the same time by Officer Cooney on a similar charge. They will not find it so easy to get off this time.

Deitz's Departure.

J. W. Hathaway, Deputy Sheriff from Helena, Montana, left for the north yesterday, having J. H. Deitz in charge. Deitz is wanted not only in Montana and Wisconsin, as has been published, but also in Illinois and New York, and all for forgery.

Important Church Notice.

All interested in the success of the Third Presbyterian Church, corner of Hill and Pine streets, Morris Vineyard, are invited to a meeting there to-morrow at 3 p. m., when Rev. J. W. The Base Ball Pitcher's Glory Shorn a Little.

From Peck's Sun.]

One of the new rules adopted by the National Base Ball League, while it is a direct blow at the liberty and pursuit of happiness of the pitcher, nevertheless is an excellent one. It had got to be so that high-salaried pitchers seemed to think all the people came and paid in their hard-earned half dollars for was to see them pose, and thereby the game was prolonged unreasonably. Under the new rule the pitcher cannot take the ball in his two-thousand-apiece-dollar hands and fumble it, then moisten his fingers and thumb with saliva and wipe them on the side of his trousers, cross his right foot around in front of the left, just touching the toes of the former to the ground, stand in this picturesque attitude several seconds, while the feelings of the spectators are wrought up to fever heat, and then suddenly untie his legs and go down in his pocket for a chew of tobacco, and wink at the pretty girl who is watching his contortions through an opera glass.

Any one of the many habits into which celebrated pitchers have fallen—even to looking with an eagle glance around the horizon of the diamond field, or hitching up his trousers—means that there is no retreat; the ball must be delivered immediately thereafter, or it will be a balk. Of course, the pitcher can go through all and singular his little idiosyncracies every time he pitched a ball, but he can't do it and then, when batsmen, umpire and public are all torn up with suspense, suspend delivery and sing a song or propound a conundrum to a short-stop.

The Purchasing Power of Money.

We notice the following in one of Mr. Atkinson's papers, read in 1882: "To the workman, or to the workwoman, it matters not what the measure in money is by which their wages or earnings are defined. The real question is, how good a house, how large a room, how adequate a supply of food and fuel and clothing can I purchase with the money? It therefore follows that every application of science to manufacturing industry, to mining, or to agriculture, by which the aggregate of things is increased while the labor is diminished, tends to increase the quantity of commodities to be divided among the laborers; and as this increase is progressive year by year, the proportion which capital can secure to itself under free contract becomes less, while the proportion which is assigned to laborers becomes greater."

HOMES

—AND—

Investments.

These are Positive Bargains:

200 ACRES close to the city (2 miles); fine level land, rich, sandy loam soil, adapted to fruits and vines, grains, etc. This land has been held stiffly at $80 per acre. The owner must sell at once and we offer it as wholly unequaled at $50 per acre as a whole, or $60 in not less than 25 acre lots.

60 ACRES ½ mile from city, heretofore held at $150 and joining and equal to $200 per acre land lying beside it. I am directed to sell this land for $135 per acre if sold before Jan. 15th.

100 ACRES of splendid vineyard four years old. This fine property is offered at less than the land adjoining can be bought for and set out. There is no vineyard in Southern California which can be bought for $225 to $300 per acre but this. The price has heretofore been $275 to $400.

106 ACRES choice foothill land adapted to early vegetables, fruits and vines; house of four rooms, pantry and cellar; good barn; house for Chinaman; well, etc.; gum trees, fruit trees of various kinds, about 50. This tract is delightfully situated and has several protected canyons adapted to bananas and other tropical fruits. The soil is a rich decomposed granite and can be worked any day in the year. Price only $75 per acre.

A HANDSOME RESIDENCE on Pearl street, close to cars; 8 rooms, baths, pantry, hot and cold water, gas, etc.; building just completed and must be sold at once. A bargain at $6500.

5 OR 7 ACRES at Pasadena, in 5 year old vineyard, close to the Raymond Hotel and most delightfully situated for villa residence. One of best properties in the colony. Heretofore held at $800 per acre. I am directed to sell for $600 until Jan. 10th. The adjoining property is held at $800.

4 ACRES near Wilmington, highly cultivated; house of 8 rooms, pantry, bath, etc.; large barn and good outbuildings generally; windmill and 10,000 gallon tank; 50 bearing orange trees; ¼ acre table grapes, and great variety of other fruits; beautiful garden of rare plants and ornamental trees; fine view of San Pedro harbor and shipping; only two blocks from good school. Only reason for selling, owner's business requires his constant presence in the city. This is the best property in the county for $3000.

HOUSE of 8 rooms and lot 75x200 feet, on 9th street west of Pearl, 1⅛ miles from Postoffice. I have received instructions to sell this property, including about $150 worth of carpets, furniture, large range, etc., for $3350 if sold before January 10th, but not thereafter for less than $3650. This property has been held at $3500 without the furniture, and it cost the owner $3740 without the furniture. A bargain indeed at $3350.

LOT on Main street, 25x165 with building of 25 rooms, only one square from First street; will rent for $125 per month; immediate possession given. For sale until Jan. 1st for $8000. The price has always been $10,000. This is a very good investment; $8000. If desired we can sell the adjoining property, the lot being 25x165, but the house of smaller size, for $7000.

11 LOTS fronting on Ninth street—three of them corner lots—all covered with full bearing orange trees and some limes. each lot 52x155 feet, for $3600. This property is unequaled in the city as an investment. Each and every lot is equal to any "$600 lot in the Childs tract," and no boats are required to find them in wet weather; $3600.

160 TO 400 ACRES of fine, rich, deep, sandy loam land; magnificent water supply from living streams; situated 7 miles from San Bernardino on the line of the Atlantic and Pacific R. R., work on which was begun last week. This is one of the finest bargains ever offered in fruit and grape lands with unlimited water supply, at ½ usual prices. If sold immediately only $60 per acre.

HOUSE of 7 rooms, closets, pantry, etc., stable, shed, etc.; handsome lawn with flowers, fruit, etc.; 158 feet from Olive street cars. Lot 75 feet front. One of the best bargains ever offered. Owner must sell, and will take, for a few days, $3500.

2000 ACRES of first-class land for colony purposes; ample supply of living water; unsurpassed for fruit and vines; sloping to the south and on the line of the Atlantic and Pacific R. R., now being built from San Bernardino to The Needles. This is an unequaled bargain at $50 per acre.

City property of all kinds and at every price from $250 upwards.

Among my most desirable properties are the following:

AN elegant 5-room cottage, handsomely furnished, on Boyle Heights, near the electric light, close to cars and overlooking city; ceilings elegantly frescoed, walls handsomely papered, hall, pantry, bath, cellar; artificial stone sidewalks around house, etc. A bargain at $4500.

A NEAT 6-room cottage on 12th st., with bath, city water, marble mantels and stationary washstand; lot 50x190 feet, with 20 bearing orange, peach, apple, and other trees. Price has always been $4000; reduced this day to $3700.

One of the best investments in property on my books is the lot cor. Hill and 6th sts., 120x165 feet, with three 2-story buildings of 6 rooms each and two small cottages, leaving the corner vacant. This pays $1200 a year above all expenses, and excluding the corner lot is equivalent to 16 per cent. net on the investment. By improving the vacant corner at an expense of $5000 the property will pay 25 per cent on $17,000. The price as the property stands is only $12,000.

16 ACRES one-half mile outside city; 325 orange trees 14 years old, 150 6 years old, 180 peach, 75 apple, pear, prune, nectarine, walnut and quince trees; 5 acres vineyard, bearing; house of 4 rooms, new; 2 horses, bred, and buggy. This is a splendid property, and cannot be surpassed for a suburban home, while it is the cheapest property, all things considered, in the vicinity, $9600.

LOVELY SAN GABRIEL VALLEY HOME—18 acres in San Gabriel Valley, splendidly improved; 650 orange trees, 150 lemons, 300 lime, 150 apple, 80 pear, 80 peach, 15 apricot, quince, fig, chestnut, walnut, etc.; ¾ acre grapes; house of 7 rooms, hard finished, bath and pantry; water free for irrigation and domestic use. House of 4 rooms for hired help. This is a magnificent property and very cheap, at $15,000.

2 FINE RESIDENCES, 10 rooms each, on Main street, closets, bath, pantry, trees, etc. Only $6000 each.

EAST LOS ANGELES: Vacant lots $350 upward.

Lot 60x105, with house of 5 rooms, most desirably situated, north of Downey avenue; $1600.

Three lots on corner; house of 6 rooms, hard-finished. Price (and cheap) $2500.

Two lots on corner, with house of 5 rooms and fine windmill and well; $2500. And various other properties.

BOYLE HEIGHTS: Various lots and residences.

ORANGE: Several 10-acre tracts.

PASADENA: Various desirable properties, improved and unimproved.

ACROSS THE CONTINENT.

THE NEXT GRAND FIRST-CLASS PULLMAN PALACE CAR EXCURSION PARTY TO LOS ANGELES, SAN FRANCISCO AND RETURN, under the auspices of the Missouri Pacific Railway Company, will leave Chicago February 17 and St. Louis February 18, 1885. A splendid inducement to Eastern people to visit California. Tickets good for six months to San Francisco and return. Rates from Chicago, $117, and from St. Louis only $110. All other Eastern points in proportion. Would suggest to Californians having friends or relatives in the East desirous of visiting our wonderful State that they write them, inclosing advertisement of this rare opportunity for doing so most reasonably. Arrangements can be made to have ladies or children coming to California without escort placed under the personal charge of our Traveling Passenger Agent, who will accompany this party. For all further information call on or address JOHN E. ENNIS, Traveling Pass. and Land Agent Missouri Pacific Railway Co., 109 Clark street, Chicago, Ill., or H. B. SMITH JR., Pacific Coast Agent Missouri Pacific Railway Co., 605 Market street, San Francisco, or G. E.
